Emails?

The internet can be a bad place, a lot of nasty things can happen, like details being stolen. Heres some sites the ACMA site and the AHTCC.

Chainmail can be dangerous because of strangers, viruses and false bank sites. Chainmail can result in viruses and your email being stolen. You should only open messages from people you know.

Chainmail is sent to a number of people. It can also be passed on. If you pass it you can give the reciever viruses.

Bank emails can be fake, you can lose your bank I.D or just lose money.

Buisness mail can involve chainmail and it works. You shouldn't send it on though, other people dont want it. Bussinesses want emails so they can advertise more.

Strangers can go into chat rooms and say that they are 14 and ask you for your emails. Then they can give it to others and the next thing you know all these emails will pop up.

I hope you have taken in some information. The next time you use your computer you will know all about emails.
